TUTORIAL 1 - ELECTRONIC TRIAL MASTER FILES (ETMF) – MORE THAN A DOCUMENT REPOSITORY

Co-Instructors:

Eldin Rammell, Managing Director, Rammell Consulting, UK

Karen Jane Roy, Senior Vice President, Client Solutions Phlexglobal, United Kingdom

With initiatives such as the TMF Reference Model, we have seen a significant increase in the level of knowledge, involvement and understanding in the area of trial master file management. Implementing an electronic trial master file is now regarded by many as an essential requirement. However, trial sponsors still struggle with many aspects of TMF creation, management and oversight. This tutorial will focus on just 3-4 topics related to the management of trial master files, providing delegates with extended time to review and discuss these subjects in detail. Whilst the instructors will provide an overview of each topic and will contribute their experience and expertise to the discussion, this will be highly interactive tutorial providing delegates an opportunity to discuss specific questions with their industry peers.

Discussion topics may include*:

- Selecting an eTMF vendor – what criteria should be considered?
- TMF quality and compliance – what does it mean? what can you measure?
- Eliminating paper records – can this be achieved?
- Electronic versus digital signatures – which one wins?

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this tutorial, attendees will be able to:

- Avoid common eTMF implementation issues
- Evaluate the health of their TMF using industry standard metrics
- Apply an efficient TMF process

Target Audience

Professionals involved in the following areas:

- Clinical Records Managers/Archivists
- eTMF Project Managers (IT & Business)
- TMF Stakeholders

* the exact content will depend on interests of registered delegates

TUTORIAL 2 – REGULATORY INFORMATION MANAGEMENT AND IDENTIFICATION OF MEDICINAL PRODUCTS (IDMP)

Co-Instructors:

Frits Stulp, IDMP Program Manager, Astellas Pharma, Netherlands

Jasper Riksen, XEVMPD / IDMP Consultant, Astellas Pharma, Netherlands

Michiel Stam, Regulatory Operations Scientist, eCTDconsultancy, Netherlands

The implementation of IDMP in the EU is now gathering pace with agreements on the scope of Iteration 1 for Authorised Medicinal Products, on Organisation information and how Controlled Vocabularies will be managed. The scope of Iteration 1 is greater than that of XEVMPD and will bring some challenges in obtaining and maintaining data. Companies will need to address how they manage these challenges, in the shorter-term for Iteration 1 and in the longer-term for subsequent iterations which will have much wider scope and be significantly more complex to address. The tutorial will address the shorter-term requirements for Iteration 1 and the longer-term strategic needs of managing IDMP data for regulatory compliance, use in healthcare scenarios and for internal business benefit and efficiency.

Moreover, various use cases on IDMP will be discussed. This includes a first IDMP implementation at an MAH; one of the first pharma companies to go live with a system for Iteration 1 submissions. Therefore the instructors will not only share their personal views on IDMP but can also share from a wealth of practical experience on implementing IDMP solutions.

Discussion topics will include:

- Status of implementation of IDMP implementation in EU (and other regions)
- Medicinal Product data for Iteration 1 (e.g. differences from XEVMPD, challenges)
- Impacts of requirements for Substances, Organisations and managing Controlled Vocabularies
- Implementing IDMP – use cases from various companies, including building the business case
- Strategic approaches to IDMP data management (RIM, MDM, EDM, RDM, Structured Content Authoring)

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this tutorial, attendees will be able to:

- Understand the impacts of Iteration 1
- Understand the key challenges in implementing IDMP
- Understand some of the opportunities driven by IDMP

Target Audience

Professionals involved in the following areas:

- Regulatory Information Management
- Regulatory Information Technology
- Reference- and Master Data Management
- Supply Chain
- XEVMPD
- Pharmacovigilance
- Quality Assurance
- Standardisation and Harmonisation

TUESDAY, 24 MAY 2016

08:00 REGISTRATION & WELCOME COFFEE

09:00 SESSION 1 - TRACK A & B

WELCOME AND INTRODUCTION

Session Chair: Hans Van Bruggen, Sr. Regulatory Affairs Consultant, eCTDconsultancy B.V., Netherlands

Companies and Health Authorities have changed from capturing information in paper format to digitalised formats. However, the digitalised formats still mirror the paper contents structure. Though the shipment is easier and documents are available remotely, one has to open the documents, interpret the content, put it is context of information coming from other documents to evaluate Quality, Efficacy and Safety of medicinal products. Our Keynote Speaker will inspire you to make the next transition from digitalised paper to electronic data. Subsequently it will be explained how big data analytics can improve insight in performance management of, and understand the use of tools to support decision making in clinical trials.

Keynote: Stop Paper Thinking! What else?
Irene Polikoff, CEO and Co-founder, TopQuadrant, USA

Performance and Risk in Clinical Trials

The current ICH and EU specifications for eCTD are well embedded in many organisations and processes for e-submission operationalised. The status quo is not really an option as there are changes are around the corner with the next major version of eCTD and changes to the EU Module 1. Furthermore, process optimisation should be a focus in order to increase efficiency and reduce costs. This session will look how eCTD v4.0, a revised version of EU Module 1 and process optimisation all need to be considered moving ahead.

COLLABORATION / CROS

Session Chair:
Jamie Marie Toth, MS Director TMF Operations, Daiichi Sankyo, United States

One of the key complexities in the eTMF space is the Sponsor CRO relationship. How do they best work together? Who's systems should be used? #### SEMANTIC INTEROPERABILITY BY LINKED DATA: CONNECTING DISJOINTED BUSINESS PROCESSES TO OPTIMISE DATA RELIABILITY

Session Chair:
Dimitri Stamatiadis, CEO, MAIA Consulting, Switzerland

Talking about interoperability, people immediately think about agreement between the various counterparts that want to work together. Subsequently, the general next step is integration of computer systems. However, to allow for a successful integration of tools, we often miss the semantic interoperability. This session will explain how the concept of "Linked data" and state of the art semantic technology can help companies making the transitions towards enterprise wide structured data management.

BEYOND E-PAPER: DATA DRIVEN AUTHORING AND VALIDATING LITERATURE MONITORING SEARCHES

Session Chair:
Hans Van Bruggen, Sr. Regulatory Affairs Consultant, eCTDconsultancy B.V., Netherlands

Authoring documents is often documenting a train of thought in a narrative way. However, how can we reduce the recreation of a train of thought and how can we gain knowledge from somebody else's thinking and reuse the same content in different contexts (e.g. from a single study to across studies)? This session will focus on both aspects, (1) preparing content considering optimal reuse and (2) extracting content and obtaining the reliable information for pharmacovigilance purposes.

Beyond e-Paper: Key Benefits and Considerations for Topic Based Authoring
Jim Nichols, Vice President, Life Sciences & US Operations, DitaExchange Inc., US & Denmark, United States

Validated Text Mining for Safety Literature Screening

10:45 PARALLEL SESSION 6 - TRACK B

OPTIMISING TMF CONTENT

Session Chair:
Russell Joyce, Director & Principal Consultant, Heath Barrowcliff Consulting Ltd, United Kingdom

eTMF implementations have matured significantly over recent years. We have moved away from a situation where these systems are seen as stand-alone repositories for closed trial documents to being a central tool to facilitate trial management and oversight. This has required alignment and integration with other related technologies and embedding of those technologies into core clinical processes.

Sustaining TMF Compliance through Integrated Document Management
Lorrie Dixon, Trial Master File Manager, F. Hoffmann-La Roche, Switzerland

Enhancing TMF Operations with Electronic Signatures
Betsy Fallen, Global Head of Program and Business Development, SAFE-BioPharma Association, United States

13:30 SESSION 7 - TRACK A & B

MASTER DATA MANAGEMENT

Session Chair: Romuald Braun, Managing Director, uanotau GmbH, Switzerland

In many drug development business processes, entities like vendor, trial site, route of administration, name and location play a central role. These entities are known as master data and many companies suffer today from low-quality master data scattered across the enterprise in various application silos. Improving master data quality and managing it more efficiently to optimize business processes is known as Master Data Management (MDM). This session will help attendees to understand the principles of MDM and some of the benefits achievable from optimised MDM.

Regulatory Information Management (RIM) versus Master Data Management (MDM) – Opportunities and Challenges on the Journey to Content-driven Authoring
Romuald Braun, Managing Director, uanotau GmbH, Switzerland

Enterprise Content Integration – Challenges and Solutions for eTMF integration with Enterprise Content Systems

14:30 COFFEE BREAK IN THE EXHIBITION AREA

15:00 SESSION 8 - TRACK A & B

DOCUMENT AND DATA MANAGEMENT: THE REGULATORS/INSPECTORS VIEW OF THE FUTURE

Session Chair:
Klaus Menges, Project Manager, BfArM, Germany

The future of document and data management in a regulatory environment is clearly influenced by the Regulators themselves, the type of data and documents that they need to manage for their own business and what they expect to see when a company is inspected or required to provide for compliance purposes. This session will provide an opportunity to hear directly from Regulators and Inspector regarding how they see the future for document and data management.

Telematics goes Global – How can Technology Strengthen Regulatory Systems?
Klaus Menges, Project Manager BfArM, Germany

Document and Data Management: The Regulators/Inspectors view of the future
